GERMAN TRADE FIGHT

EXCLUSION OF AMERICAN MEATS IS CONSIDERED

Demand of Agrarian Party Met on Ground That Food From States Is Unhealthy Retaliation.

Washington, March 28.—Retaliation against Germany for her exclusion of American meats was seriously considered by the President and his Cabinet today.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson believes that drastic steps must be taken to prevent the German Government from continuing its policy of forbidding the entry of American meats, ostensibly because they are unhealthy, but really in order to meet the demands of the Agrarian party. If the United States fails to compel Germany to rescind this prohibition other countries which receive American meats may feel that there is reasonable ground for Germany's action and adopt the same policy.

If the American meat trade is in danger of irreparable injury, and Secretary Wilson believes it is high time for the American Government to protect it. In anticipation of the discussion which will shortly commence between the two Governments, Secretary Wilson recently directed the chemist of the Department of Agriculture to examine German beers, wines and foods imported into this country. The report of this official, which the Secretary read to the Cabinet today, shows that German producers use preservatives and adulterants as freely, at least, as is done in the United States.

The Secretary stated that there is ample ground for prohibition by this Government of certain German products, and he was disposed to recommend the adoption of a policy of retaliation in case Germany did not rescind the prohibition of importation of American meats.

The President proposes that the State Department shall make strong representations on the subject to Germany. Secretary Hay is prepared to act as soon as Secretary Wilson transmits to the State Department the facts which he has gathered, but in the preliminary note he will probably do no more than make
